

Many “Greeks” were Canaanites

Mochus, Thales, Pythagoras, Euclid and Zenon were not Greeks... they were Canaanites, called Phoenicians by the Greeks, and lived in Greece, and maybe they were Greeks administratively at some point.

Like any Canaanite (nowadays called Lebanese Christian) in the USA, who may be an American citizen,

Greece offered a lot for Humanity as to science and philosophy, and offered to be a hub,

But it is good to know that the mind power,

Which is partly genetics / social heritage and partly forged by environmental factors,

The mind power was half Canaanite.

This ensures even more the now established fact of the movement of civilization from Canaan (Phoenicia) to Greece and Carthage, and from these two to Rome, then northern Europe...

What is knowing that good for?

Perhaps an additional push to know our heritage, try to preserve it, if not revive it...
